HOT SHOT FROM CONNELL

Tells Just What He Thinks of Men Behind the Dennison Prosecution.

NO CAUSE FOR VILLIFYING WITNESSES

Says Gamblers May Have Better Reputation for Honesty Than Men in Callings Not Prosaribed by the Law.

The post-mortem resolutions put through e Real Estate exchange and the Comnercial club belaboring the public officials and business men who testified to the good reputation for honesty of Tom Dennison are entirely unwarranted, according to Attorney W. J. Connell. Expressing himself more at length to a reporter, Mr. Connell said, with some warmth:

"The criticism and villification of those who testified to Tom Dennison's good reputation for honesty and integrity is utterly without justification. It is the aftermath of blackwash by two newspapers and certain disappointed individuals who attempted to railroad Tom Dennison into the peniten tiary on prejudice and by perjured testimony. Under the laws of Iowa every defendant in a criminal case has the right to prove, if he can, that he a man of good moral character or that he has a reputation for certain qualities which make it unlikely that he would commit the particular crime with which he is charged. For instance, if he is charged with an assault with in tent to commit great bodily harm he can show, as tending to establish his innocence. either that he is a man of good moral character or that he is a man of quiet and peaceable disposition and therefore not likely to commit a crime of that character. If charged with stealing, the defendant character or that his reputation for honesty and integrity is good.

Reputation for Honesty. "In the defense of Tom Dennison we did not attempt to prove good moral character, but to show that he was a man of honesty and square dealing. We stated at the out set, and Tom Dennison freely admitted. that he had been a gambler. We recognized that gambling was unlawful and therefore it could not be said of a gambler that he was a man of good moral character. But we asserted to what is known to every man, woman and child in Omaha who has any nowledge on the subject that notwithanding the fact that Tom Dennison has been a gambler, he is a man of honesty and integrity and a man whose word is as good as the bond of all the members of the Civic Federation combined. This is what we proved, and it is all we attempted to prove, so far as reputation is concerned.

Lots of Honest Gamblers. "Some years ago there lived in Omaha s well known gambler named Mat Harris. Later there lived for years in Omaha other well known gambler named Dan den. Were it necessary to do so I could call a hundred of our best known and most highly respected citizens and prove by every one of them that the reputation of Mat Harris and Dan Allen for honesty and integrity was good, without mentioning it to them in advance. I know I could prove this by Judge Lake, Dr. Miller, James E Boyd, W. A. Paxton and a host of other old and respected citizens.

"At the time the populistic wave was sweeping over the country William McKinley said in one of his speeches delivered in Council Bluffs that there were two kinds of farmers-the farmer who farmed the farms and the farmers who farmed the farmers. So, also, there are two kinds of gamblers-the open, square dealing gambler, who does not deny he is a gambler. and the miserable leech who wants to fasten his graft on the gambler. It is with the latter kind that the prosecution of Tom Dennison had its origin. And it is further true as holy writ that the fight of gambler against gambler was taken up by a gang of disreputable and disgruntled politicians, who seized the livery of heaven to serve the devil, and in this city induced some good men, both in and out of the Civic Federation, to aid in pulling their political chestnuts out of the fire.

Someone is Using Them. "It is astounding that such organizations as the Commercial club and Real Estate exchange should now allow themselves to be so used I supposed the Commercial club was organized for the upbuilding of Omaha and not to create strife and dissension, which in the past has worked so such injury to our city. Why is it that the

For the wonderful help that she has und Miss Cora Goode, 355 E. Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Ill., believes it her duty to write the following letter for ublication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was: Miss Goode is president of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club of Chicago. She writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I tried many different remedies to try to build up my system, which had become run down from loss of proper rest and unreason-able hours, but nothing seemed to help me. Mother is a great advocate of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female trou-bles, having used it herself some years ago with great success. So I began to take it, and in less than a mouth I was able to be out of bed and out of doors, and in three mouths I was entirely well. Really I have never felt so strong and well as I have since."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucor-rhos, falling, inflammation or ulceraon of the uterus, ovarian troubles, faintness indigestion, nervous prostra-tion or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious conequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. allowed to pass unnoticed that infamous libel on Omaha and its citizens perpetrated by Elmer E. Thomas in his great Chicago speech, entitled The Crime of Two States,' and all at once become horrified over the assertion of a fact known to everybody, that Tom Dennison has a good name for honesty and integrity? Surely omebody must be back of these move nents; somebody who has an axe to grind or a purpose to serve other than for the good of Omaha. 'Tom Dennison may not be an angel, but te is ten thousand times better than man of the whited sepulchers who are barking at his heels. This I assert and stand ready to prove. I do not believe in abusing any man who has not first traduced others. There is so much that is bad in the est of us, and there is so much that is good in the worst of us, that it does not ecome any of us to talk about the rest of when one man undertakes to lay his own offense at the other fellow's door.

FEAST OF WEEKS CELEBRATED Interesting Ceremony and Address at Temple Israel Last Night and Confirmation Today.

The Jewish Erev Shebuoth service, or Feast of Weeks," was given last night in most impressive manner by Rabbi Fredrick Cohn to a large congregation at Temple Israel. The ceremony, which is in comemoration of the receiving of the ten ommandments by Moses on Mount Sinai, is a very interesting one and the altar was specially decorated for the occasion. Rabbi Cohn delivered a lecture on the neaning of the ten commandments, saying: "We have outgrown many things of the past, but none of these; we have advanced in many things, but not beyond the ten commandments, in fact we have not adanced up to them. These commandments though given to the Jews, are meant for the can show that he is a man of good moral whole world, and are known to almost every man, woman and child of the civilized It makes no difference if they were given thirty or forty centuries ago, they are a sun shining for us all, and shine forth in the mortal sky today as they did of old. "We treat kings of the earth with great spect, even if some of them are bad. God a King of Kings, so think with what respect we should treat even His name Without religion there would be no good, for that's the soil that goodness grows in-Religion has taught the world its moral laws, and if your children should honor their father and mother they should be taught religion. Those who aspire to be eaders must become moral leaders. This morning the commandments will be spoken by a class of little children. The program which is to be given at 10 o'clock his morning is:

Mrs. Mildred Cuthbertson is suing Henry sased, for the allenation of the affections of her husband, for which she asks $10,-000. Her ground of complaint is that by personal endeavor and by letters the defendants, for whom her husband worked in their railroad contracting business, separated her husband and herself because of prejudice against her. Involved in the case are over sixty exsibits of writing, many of these being letters the authorship of which is disputed by the defense, and some alleged to have been written by Mrs. Cuthbertson, which she denies. Expert testimony has been taken on this point and is somewhat conflicting. There are also many conflicts in the direct testimony of witnesses for either side, the contradiction in some instances being very positive. The marriage certificate of the Cuthbertsons is also in evidence and the defense contends it shows that Mrs. Cuthbertson was not married under her right name. The certificate has been aftered by someone. The trial of the case has consumed the better part of two weeks and has been fought with determination and stubbornness at every step by both sides. The jury seems to have its work cut out for a long

Mr. Hill was asked what had become of his brother L. W. Mr. Willard came to the rescue, however, and said the auto had simply got stuck and that Mr. Hill and party had secured a wagon and had eached a railroad track from whence they went to St. Paul.

General Manager Holdrege accompanied the party on the trip from Omaha west, aking his own car, which made seven private cars to the train. They go direct to Alliance, and then over the Alliance branch to Denver.

Mr. Willard said his road had nothing to do with the construction of the cut-off from Sloux City to Omaha, as that was entirely in the hands of the Great Northern. He said Mr. Hill, who was with the party, was not an official of that road and could not speak for the road, and nothing could be learned from the party as to the time of the commencement of construction on the cut-off.

sented by Students of St.

"Pontia, the Daughter of Pilate," was presented last night in the auditorium of Creighton college by the girls of Mount St. Mary's seminary. It is a tale of the Christian faith. Pontia shows her character first by begging her mother to intercede with her father for the life of Christ, who is about to be crucified. After the crucifixion she is asked to accept the Christian religion by her friend, Petronilla, but because of her father's guilt, cannot bring head officials of the Burlington road and herself to profess faith. She goes away to Rome and enters the court of the Empress Agrippina. After being here a year she excites the anger of the empress by refusing the hand of her son, Nero, in marriage. She is thrown into prison, together with Petronilla and condemned to be executed. Here she accepts Christ and is baptised by her friend, but just as the water is poured on her brow she faints and dies. All along her sympathy has been with the Christians. Miss A. Taylor took the part of Pontia which, of course, is the heaviest, in a very commendable way. Her manner was easy and her clear voice reached every part of the house. Petronilla was seen in son of Miss M. Devlin, who did well with a difficult character. The regal, the scornful, the revengful, the purple clad Agrippina, was characterized by Miss E. Swain, whose roice and figure suited her for the part. Miss Marie Mulvibill, as Pilate's wife, and Salome Sears, as Pontia's sister, earned much merited praise. The costumes were Following is the cast of characters: Pollowing is the cast of characters:

Three hundred high school cadets, in dress miform, with white gloves and burnished metal, marched from the high school to the Union station Thursday morning and left for the annual encampment at Missour! Valley without incident. Commandant Stogsdall led the gray procession down Dodge street to Sixteenth, over Sixteenth to Douglas and east to Tenth; thence traightaway to the passenger station. The adet band, with a number of additions of old boys," made an imposing appearance and played inspiring strains at every opportunity. The high school faculty did not see fit to the let the girls go to the station to see the cadets away, so goodbys were waved at the high school, and only a few parents and sisters got a chance to breathe last bits of advice to young hopefuls.

The train that carried the cadets to Valley Park had six coaches and one baggage car and ran over the Northwestern. The young guardsmen had to wait for quite a while before the train backed over from Council Bluffs, and things were somewhat crowded inside the iron fence. When a truck, heaped high with raw rations and guarded by five stalwart real army cooks. in khaki uniforms and khaki helmets passed by, the cadets cheered lustily; also every now and then for the school, the commandant, and all concerned.

Medical Students Go. Two medical students, Ernest Kelly and J. C. Arnot, put on the cadet uniforms again and went along as surgeons and camp pathologists.

Visitors' day will be Tuesday. A special train, the time of which will be announced later, will run direct to the camp grounds at the Valley, instead of leaving gap to be filled in by carryalls.

Tents and heavy camp equipment went to the grounds Wednesday in charge of the signal corps, which laid out the camp and got things in readiness. The competitive drill of the cadets will be held Thursday, or the day after camp is broken, probably at Vinton Street park,
